

Mishap Reporting & Recordkeeping

John Seibert, CIH, CSP
Assistant for Safety, Health & Fire
Office of the Deputy Under Secretary of Defense
(Installations & Environment)
September 20, 2005

Dissecting a Mishap

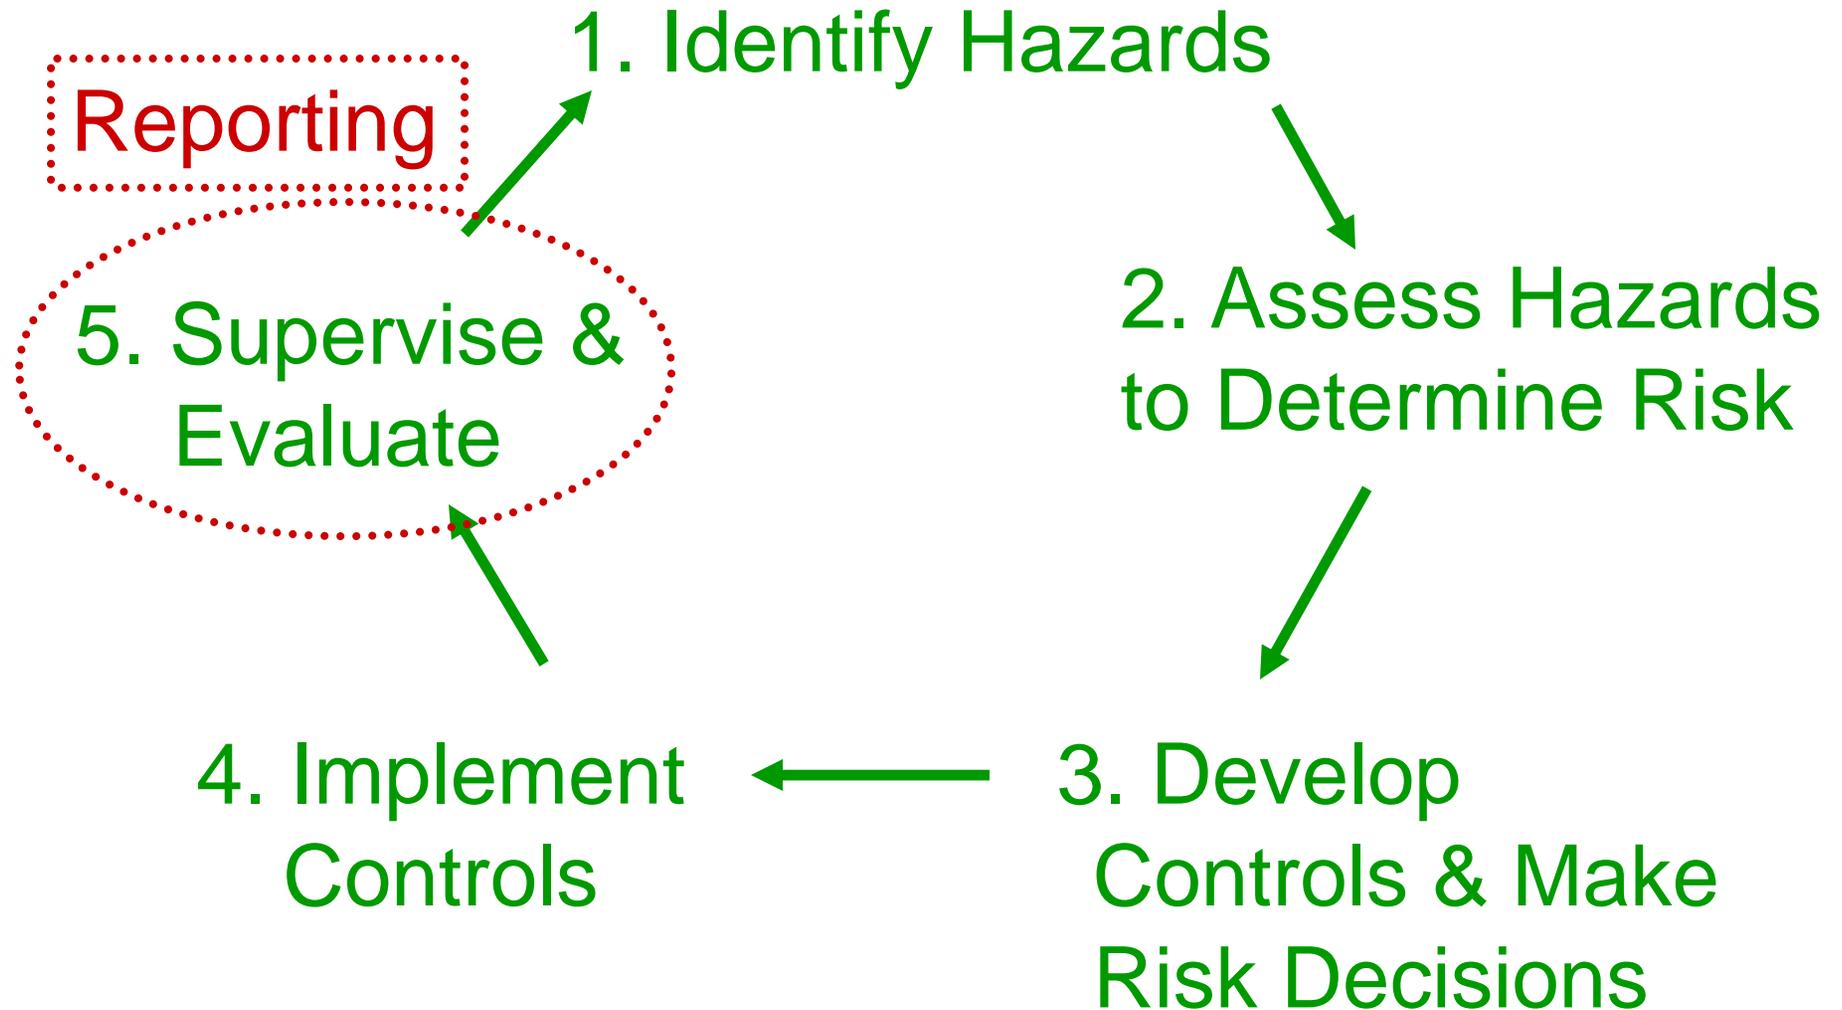

Purposes of Reporting

- Risk Management (ORM)
 - Identifying current risk level to risk decision makers
 - Providing information to make changes
- Consequence management
 - Medical treatment
 - Compensation to injured persons
 - Legally assigning blame

Reporting in Risk Management

Changes to Reporting

- Civilian employee injuries
- Private motor vehicle crashes
- Aviation mishaps
- Military deployment mishaps
- Fratricide – “Friendly Fire”

Civilian Employee Injuries

Gap: Confusion from inconsistent reporting between federal agencies and private industry

Previous State

- OSHA 2014 Reporting Guidelines

Current State

- Effective 1 Jan 2005
- 29 CFR 1904
- OSHA 300 Log

- Secondary effect
 - shifts primary responsibility - OWCP to supervisors
 - Supports VPP application process

• Resources

http://www.osha.gov/dep/fap/recordkeeping_faqs.html

Private Motor Vehicle Crashes

Gap: Detailed reporting of causes

Current State

- Mishap data elements established within each Military Service

Future state

- Minimum standard DoD data elements based on modified NHTSA MMUCC
- Services add data elements to minimums

Resources

- Future changes to DoDI 6055.4
- <http://www-nrd.nhtsa.dot.gov/departments/nrd-30/ncaa/MMUCC.html>

Military Deployments

Gap: Investigation reports for mishap during deployments not shared with combatant commanders

Current State

- Military Service-centric reporting & investigations

Future state

- Services continue leading investigations
- COCOMs included in investigation & reporting

- Resources

Future changes to DoDI 6055.7

Fratricide

“Friendly Fire” (isn’t)

Gap: Fratricide investigations do not provide timely recommendations to combatant commanders

Current State

- Services perform legal investigations (up to 1 year to report)

Future state

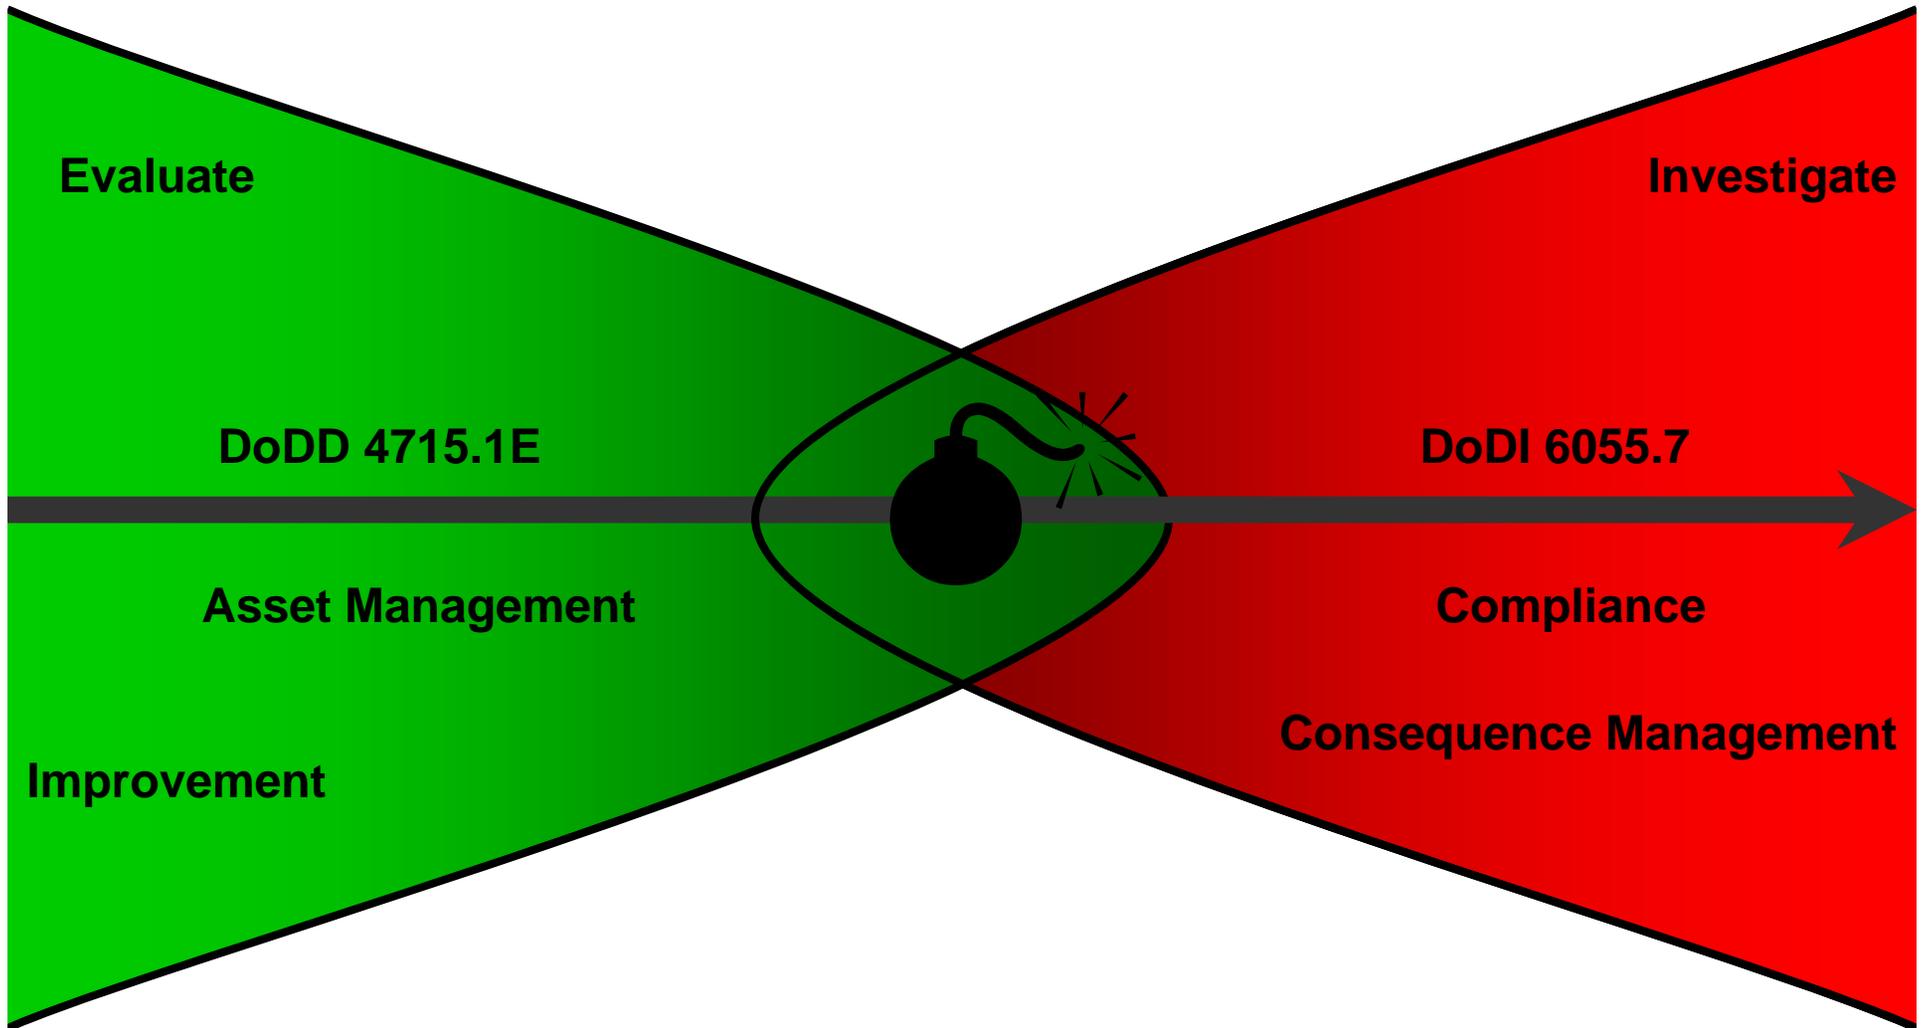

- Services performing safety investigations
- COCOMs included in investigation & reporting

- Resources

Future changes to DoDI 6055.7

Dissecting a Mishap

Questions?